The Woodland Road School was erected in 1883. It remains on the original building site today.

The building was remodeled in 1925, at that time the ceiling was lowered and a new chimney was built. In 1930 a shed was added to the back of the school, the shed was later destroyed in a windstorm leaving only the foundation - still visible today.

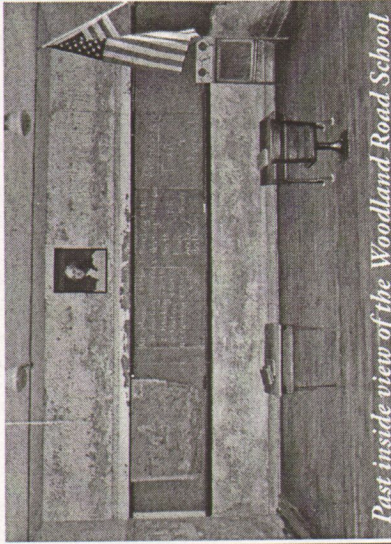

Following consolidation into the Hustisford School District, the Woodland Road School was sold to a private party in the late 1950's. The school remained unused for the next 40+ years. During this time the school suffered several break-ins.

Friends of Woodland Road School acquired the School in 2004 and was incorporated in the same year.
